

Moaning Frog Heleioporus eyrei

When to look:
March to August

Brown or slate black with irregular yellow/grey patches

Yellow wash on parotid gland area

Similar species:

This frog can be distinguished from other Heleioporus species by its size, call, and lack of nuptial spines.

Tip: Listen for the call in swamps with sandy soil and in suburban gardens. It is a long and rising slow moan

Images courtesy of William Archer