

Fuchsia Health Epacris longiflora

When to look:

Flowers appear throughout the year and peak from June to October, seeds appear after flowers

Upright to spreading evergreen shrub that grows from 0.5-2 m in height

Flowers grow in rows along the branches

Thin, flat leaves have a pointed tip and wide base

Capsules contain the small seeds

Similar species:

The flowers distinguish Epacris longiflora from any other plant.

Long and tubular flowers have pink-red tubes with white lobes or are all white

Image courtesy of David Lochlin 2012 via FlickrCC