

Silky Oak Grevillea robusta

When to look:

*September to January,
flowers appear in spring,
mature seed pods appear December-January*

Silvery green and
fern-like leaves
that are 10-34 cm
in length

Evergreen tree that grows 8-40 m in height

Smooth, oval seed
pods that turn dark brown when mature

Golden yellow to orange flowers

Similar species:

The Silky Oak is a very distinct tree and unlikely to be confused with anything else.

Images courtesy of Tatiana Gerus (flower) and Jim Harding (seed pods)